

Hello, Enigma World Code Group Friends,

Our amateur radio Special Event honoring the Bletchley Park code breakers on April 12 was great fun. I logged 168 contacts, and I was surprised at how many radio amateurs were very knowledgeable about Enigma and the part it played in World War II. One fellow sent me some pictures of his radio rig. He built it by hand using plans supplied by Bletchley Park and patterned after WWII-era equipment. The name Alan Turing was mentioned dozens of times. A very nice guy informed me that last year his folks cleaned-out their basement and threw-away an Enigma machine thinking that it was just junk. One ham told me that he has an Enigma machine under a pile of junk in his basement, but that he would just as soon leave it there for right now. We live in a funny world, my friends.

Here is April's newsletter. Milk cows? What does Culp have in store for us this month? Remember to use Auto-type. October's newsletter tells you how.

Please use my codesheet U-571, April 23, 1944.

"ZNABC" is the Kennguppen. Is it valid? Start decrypting with, "...XCN..."
